MINDY CRUZ

Crilique

~Reflection on Travel By Kristi~

The websites that inspired my design so far are:

http://www.segaletravel.com

http://www.travelstore.com

I am most proud of the simple layout of the site and the three boxes at the bottom, because those were tricky for me to figure out how to place them where I wanted.

When Laws

I was no sensiting travel agent with course present of corporations (Dorw bulged many bugged cleans with travel around the weeks Constitute on and John plan an Advantaged

Travel Services

Hosespanese
Decisation Madelings
Cale Trim
Advantum Insteal

Group Turnel

Guided Even
Destination Walchings
Emails Hestings Turn
Advanture Even Witer Turn

During the design process, I struggled with creating a good flow for the user and not overcrowding the space with information on travel.

During the development of the website, I struggled with making the three boxes at the bottom of the page float where I wanted them to and become equal heights with each other.

In making the site responsive, I learned more about EMs, percentages and media queries. I learned the most about Ems and their relationship to the original set font.

~Reviews~

Sagmeister & Walsh

I love the non-traditional layout of this site. From the home page using the image as it's navigation menu, to the ampersand logo, I am loving this site's design. The high contrast of the white background and black text, along with the sans-serif font make the site easy to read and leaves the focus on design. The flow and navigation are awesome as well.

Spectrum Powderworks

I don't particularly like the logo/header for this site. I feel like it could use an update and modern styling. I do like the use of the sliding images as the navigation menu. The flow of the site could use updating as well, as I feel the purpose of the page is lost on me, as I'm sure it is to their customers. I think the focus should be more defined and the whole site reworked and simplified.